Hearts for Healthcare and Essential Workers

We miss seeing you at the library and we look forward to when the Durham Public Library will reopen and we can visit with you all again. In the meantime, we would like to show our support for Durham's essential personnel. We have great windows at the library and we would like to fill them with hearts as a big "Thank You" to all of our front line workers who have kept our community going during this time.

We invite patrons of all ages to make hearts to display in our windows. You can make any kind of heart you would like, any size, decorated, drawn, painted, cut out or not. Use your imagination and sign them if you wish. Bring them to the library and drop in the collection box on the bench in front. We will hang them in our windows as we receive them. Thank you for showing your support for our front line workers!

Stay healthy and safe,
The Durham Public Library staff

From the Director's Desk

It seems like a long, long time since I wrote my last note and many things have changed in the world and for the Library. One thing that hasn't changed is the Library's commitment to serving our community to the absolute best of our ability.

Library staff continue to be available to help answer your questions. Leave us a voice message or send an email and we will get back to you as quickly as we can. Contact us if you're looking for ways to engage your children with fun and educational materials, if you need help finding available resources for business, health or employment, or if you are simply bored and need help finding something to entertain you! We are ready to help.

Until we can meet again in person, please enjoy our digital resources, follow us on social media, or reach out via email or telephone. We appreciate your patience and understanding and miss seeing you every day.

- Christine

Patti's Movie Recommendation

Megan Leavey

I recently watched the movie Megan Leavey on Kanopy, our new on demand streaming service. If you love dogs or just enjoy feel-good movies, you'll want to watch this one! Megan Leavey is based on a true story about a young woman who wants to escape her troubled past and joins the Marines. She becomes the dog handler for Rex in the K9 unit and the two form a strong bond. While in Afghanistan, Corporal Levey and Sergeant Rex go on more than 100 missions and save many lives. This is a heart-warming movie and I love the bond between Megan and Rex. I wouldn't really call this a war movie because it's more about their relationship than the war itself. I highly recommend seeing it!

Geometric Paper Collage

This was a fun, easy project. I like to scrapbook, so I had most of the supplies. My diamond template was bigger than what was used online, so I used a larger piece of stock and had less stars. It was fun to put the designs together, the instructor explained everything well, I would definitely try another project on Creative Bug.

Finger Knit Trivet

The trivet instructions called for sash rope, but since I only had yarn available I made a coaster-sized trivet for my tea cup. The video was engaging with 2 instructors walking us through the steps necessary to finger knit, wrap, and complete our piece. The best part is you can use any yarn you have on hand and it took less than 45 minutes. Finger knitting is a great way to do something meditative even if you don't have traditional knitting supplies. The video and instructions can be found on Creativebug.

"The Broken Girls"
by Simone St. James

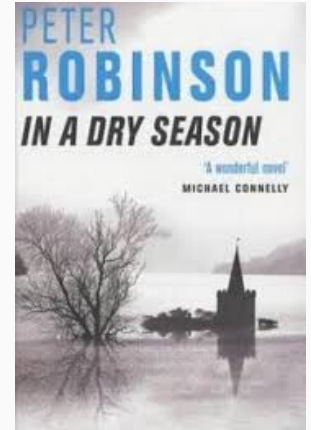

Journalist Fiona Sheridan discovers some deep dark secrets in an abandoned boarding school named Idlewild Hall. The school is a place for unwanted girls and it's supposed to be haunted. Fiona's sister was found murdered years earlier in the fields near the school. Although the murderer was caught, Fiona always felt that something wasn't quite right about the case. When a shocking discovery is made during the renovations of the school, the loss of Fiona's sister is linked to the secrets of the past... I thoroughly enjoyed this book! It was mysterious and spooky and I couldn't put it down. I'm not usually a big fan of creepy stories, but this one wasn't just a ghost story. It was a fascinating murder mystery as well. The Broken Girls is available on Overdrive/Libby.

"In a Dry Season"
By Peter Robinson

A novel of suspense involving characters that are so believable that one would wonder what they are doing after the book ends. The story revolves around Thornfield reservoir. A warm humid summer has caused the reservoir to dry up and expose a small village known as Hobb's End that ceased to exist after World War II in England. Detective Alan Banks is notified of a grim discovery in the village and a host of everyday characters from the present and the past present themselves to the reader. The author is an expert at plotting and this story ascends to the pinnacle of crime fiction. Largely through the convincing and complex characters, an unimaginable story presents itself to the reader. A real mystery lies here. I couldn't put this book down. This book is available on Hoopla.

"Weeds"
by Edith Summers
Kelley

This book, written in 1923, rediscovered in the 1970's and reappraised as an American Classic is available through Hoopla. The story is a portrayal of the monotonous and drudge filled life of the small tenant farmer in the tobacco fields of Kentucky and centers around a young woman with spirit and a restless longing for a purpose in her life. This is a story about acceptance of your lot in life and finding the good in it through the beauty of nature.

Minigolf Adventure Returns to the Library

The second annual Fore! The Library MiniGolf Adventure took place on Saturday, March 7 and Sunday, March 8 at the Library. The event is organized by PALS, the Friends of the Durham Public Library, to raise funds for programs, materials, museum passes, and other library services.

Saturday evening saw numerous groups of friends playing a minigolf course throughout the Library, before enjoying the beer, wine and food at the "19th Hole" on the lower level. Sunday brought many families to enjoy minigolf, snacks, and crafts. "This event is a lot of fun," said Library Director Christine Michaud. "It lets people enjoy the library in a whole new way, as well as raising needed funds."

We'd like to thank the many businesses and individuals who contributed money to sponsor the individual holes, contributed food or beverages, and who volunteered their time. This event would not be possible without their contributions to this fun and unique event.
